Since Micky Arison became Managing General Partner of the HEAT and hired Pat Riley as Team President in 1995, the HEAT has become one of the most stable, respected and successful franchises in all of professional sports, both on and off the court. During the 31-year Arison-Riley partnership, the HEAT has won three NBA Championships, seven Eastern Conference Championships, 16 Divisional Championships, has made 24 postseason appearances and has the best overall record in the Eastern Conference. The HEAT are one of just three franchises out of 124 in the four major North American professional sports leagues that have made at least 24 postseason appearances and captured at least three championships during the 31-year period. Additionally, no team in the NBA has made more NBA Finals appearances since 2006 than the HEAT's seven trips.

MICKY ARISON

CHAIRMAN & GOVERNOR

In 31 years leading the Miami HEAT, Chairman & Governor Micky Arison has guided the franchise to unprecedented heights, including bringing South Florida three NBA championships.

As chairman of the largest global cruise company and among the world's largest leisure travel companies, the 77-year-old Arison and his family have always been involved with the team. Although his father, Ted, brought the NBA franchise to South Florida in 1988, it has only been since Micky took control in 1995 that the HEAT has evolved into one of the NBA's top organizations. In recognition of making the HEAT a model NBA franchise, both on and off the court, Arison received the game's highest honor when on September 6, 2025 he was enshrined into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame.

Arison brought to the HEAT the same standard of excellence that propelled Carnival Corporation into a global vacation leader. One of Arison's first moves was to dramatically re-shape the franchise by hiring Pat Riley, one of the NBA's all-time winningest coaches, as Miami's President and that began a run of sustained excellence. In July 2026, Arison's leadership was further recognized league-wide when he was unanimously elected Chairman of the NBA Board of Governors for the second time, having previously served in the role from 2005 to 2008.

Together, Arison and Riley have built an organization that is considered one of the NBA's elite franchises. In addition to winning NBA championships in 2006, 2012 and 2013, Miami has made the playoffs in 24 of the last 31 seasons, winning a league-high 16 division titles and seven Eastern Conference championships, while advancing to the Eastern Conference Finals 10 times and the NBA Finals seven times. The 16 division titles the HEAT has captured over the last 31 years are the most in the NBA during that span.

Arison and Riley have maintained this excellence by pulling off some of the largest acquisitions in league history. They initially built the foundation of success by acquiring franchise cornerstones Alonzo Mourning and Tim Hardaway. Next came Dwyane Wade, Shaquille O'Neal, and a blockbuster 13-player trade in 2005 to secure key championship cogs James Posey, Jason Williams, and Antoine Walker. The groundwork for the 2012 and 2013 titles was laid in the summer of 2010, when Arison and Riley played key roles in re-signing Wade to a multi-year contract and acquiring NBA All-Stars LeBron James and Chris Bosh via sign-and-trades. After four straight trips to the NBA Finals from 2010-14, the HEAT acquired All-Stars Goran Dragić and Jimmy Butler and returned to the Finals again in both 2020 and 2023. The summer of 2026 once again saw Arison and Riley pull off another blockbuster deal, acquiring two-time NBA MVP and 10-time All-Star Giannis Antetokounmpo and Bobby Portis Jr. from Milwaukee. They also signed free agents Klay Thompson and Tim Hardaway Jr. to join All-Stars Bam Adebayo and Andrew Wiggins, alongside Davion Mitchell and Pelle Larsson, forming the nucleus of the current HEAT squad.

Arison has enjoyed an all-star business career as well, growing up in the cruise business and spending the better part of two decades learning it from the ground up. He followed his education with a two-year stint in the Carnival Cruise Lines sales department. He became reservations manager in 1974, and took over the post of vice president of passenger traffic in 1976, succeeding to the presidency in 1979.

In 1987, the company went public, generating $400 million for future expansion. As Carnival continued its growth through the traditional avenue of new ship construction, Arison also sought to expand the company's cruise operations by entering new market segments of the industry, engineering the acquisition of the venerable Holland America Line in 1989 to give Carnival entry to the premium segment of the cruise industry. In 1990, Arison was appointed chairman and CEO of Carnival Corporation. From there, he led the company's acquisition of ultra-luxury leader Seabourn, as well as Cunard, operator of the world's most famous ocean liners, and Costa Cruises, Europe's number one cruise company.

In 2003, Arison also spearheaded the company's estimated $8.2 billion acquisition of P&O Princess Cruises, one of the most recognizable names in travel, making Carnival Corporation the largest cruise vacation group in the world. By 2013, Arison stepped back from day-to-day CEO duties to focus on his role as chairman—a post he has held ever since.

Today, as chairman of the Board of Directors of Carnival Corporation Ltd., Arison works closely with CEO Josh Weinstein to oversee diversified travel and tourism holdings across sea and land. With eight iconic cruise lines sailing a fleet of 90-plus ships to over 800 amazing destinations, and a portfolio of exclusive Caribbean destination escapes and immersive land adventures in Alaska and the Yukon Territory, the company serves virtually every market segment—from contemporary to luxury.

The Arison family and Carnival Corporation are devoted to South Florida and over the years have supported a variety of arts-related and community service organizations. Organizations supported by the Arison family and Carnival include the Wounded Warriors, ICA Miami, Miami Children's Museum, Jackson Memorial Foundation, Miami Project to Cure Paralysis, Project Medishare for Haiti, Direct Relief, Big Brothers/Big Sisters of Miami, United Way of Miami Dade, Chapman Partnership, Lotus House, Overtown Youth Center, Feeding South Florida and many others.

Under Arison's leadership the HEAT have been champions in the fight for inclusion and social justice for all. In 2018, the HEAT captured the NBA's inaugural Inclusion Leadership Award for the franchise's ongoing commitment to inclusion and belonging. In November of 2020, Arison was named to the board of the NBA's Social Justice Coalition which focuses on action and change around voting access and criminal justice reform at the national, state and local levels.

Arison's contributions to the cruise industry have been recognized by a wide range of international organizations. He has been named an Officer of the French Legion of Honor – the country's highest civilian honor – by French President Jacques Chirac, received an honorary doctorate in naval architecture from the University of Genoa, and has been awarded the Decoration of Commander, First Class, of the Order of the Lion of Finland by the President of the Republic of Finland. He has also been awarded the insignia of Onorificenza al Merito della Repubblica Italiana by the President of Italy, which confers that country's highest title on a civilian.

NICK ARISON

CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

Nick Arison begins his 24th year as a full-time member of the HEAT organization and his 16th as Chief Executive Officer. He has been associated with successful teams at every level of basketball and has been part of championships with the Miami HEAT, Duke University and USA Basketball. Arison oversees the day-to-day operations of the franchise and is a limited partner in the team. He has served as alternate governor since the 2005-06 season and is currently a member of the NBA's Planning Committee. He previously served a term on the NBA's Competition Committee.

His promotion to Chief Executive Officer on July 22, 2011, was a natural progression for Nick, who grew up with the HEAT. His grandfather, Ted Arison, was one of the team's original founders, and his father, Micky Arison, bought the controlling share of the franchise and was named Managing General Partner on February 13, 1995.

Arison has served the HEAT in a variety of positions over the years and has learned the business from the ground up. He began working for the HEAT organization as a team attendant, serving four seasons from 1995-99. He then held summer internships in the Arena Operations, Community Affairs, and Sales and Marketing departments before becoming a full-time staff member on the business side of the organization in 2003 as an Account Manager, Premium Partnerships. In 2006, he was promoted to Director of Corporate and Premium Services, where he oversaw the Account Management Team. Prior to the 2008-09 season, he was named Vice President, Basketball Operations, working directly with Pat Riley and Andy Elisburg to oversee the basketball side of the organization and playing an active role in recruiting and acquiring talent. During the summer of 2010, he was instrumental in the re-signing of Dwyane Wade and Udonis Haslem, as well as the acquisitions of LeBron James, Chris Bosh and Mike Miller. In recent years, he has also played a significant role in the acquisitions of Giannis Antetokounmpo, Norman Powell, Andrew Wiggins, Jimmy Butler, Shane Battier, Ray Allen and Goran Dragić. SportsBusiness Journal selected Arison as one of its 2013 "Forty Under 40" honorees, an award that recognizes the most promising sports business executives under age 40.

Since he joined the organization on a full-time basis in 2003-04, the HEAT has enjoyed its greatest level of success, winning NBA championships in 2006, 2012 and 2013. In addition to the three NBA championships, the HEAT has captured seven conference championships and 12 division titles, made the playoffs in 19 of 23 seasons, compiled a 1,042-809 (.563) regular-season record and posted a 143-105 (.577) postseason record.

Under Arison's leadership, the HEAT has excelled off the court as well and continues to make an impact throughout the South Florida community. The HEAT's success was recognized when the team received the 2020-21 NBA Sales and Marketing Team of the Year Award, which honors excellence in business performance across key revenue drivers and operational focus areas, including people and culture and community impact. Additionally, the HEAT was the inaugural winner of the NBA's 2018 Inclusion Leadership Award, recognizing the franchise's long history and ongoing commitment to diversity and inclusion.

On the business side, Arison has seen the HEAT's in-house data collection and analysis platform, 601 Analytics, continue to flourish and serve as an industry leader. Originally formed within the HEAT's business operations department, 601 Analytics now serves more than 30 clients across sports leagues, multi-ownership portfolios, major events and venues. It is currently used by more than 20 percent of NBA teams and the league office, as well as teams in the NFL, MLB, NHL and WNBA. Additionally, 601 Analytics partnered with FIFA to build the FIFA Venue Intelligence Hub, which managed ticketing, merchandise, and food-and-beverage metrics across 16 stadiums for the 2026 Men's World Cup.

In addition to his responsibilities with the HEAT, Arison served as a member of the United States Men's Senior National Team support staff from 2004-08. He assisted with the day-to-day operations of USA Basketball's 2008 Olympic team, known as the Redeem Team, which captured the gold medal in Beijing, China, and was later inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame in 2025. He also assisted the gold medal-winning 2007 FIBA Americas Championship team, the bronze medal-winning 2006 World Championship team and the bronze medal-winning team at the 2004 Olympics.

Arison began his basketball administrative career while attending Duke University. He spent four seasons as a team manager for the Blue Devils men's basketball team and was named head team manager during his senior year. Over that four-year span, Arison became the only team manager in Atlantic Coast Conference history to be part of four straight ACC championships and was a manager for Duke's 2001 NCAA championship team.

Arison, who serves on the boards of the HEAT Charitable Fund, Project Medishare for Haiti and The Buoniconti Fund to Cure Paralysis, graduated from Duke with a degree in public policy and a certificate in marketing and management. He and his wife, Jenna, reside in Miami with their four children.

PAT RILEY

PRESIDENT

Beginning his 32nd season in Miami, HEAT President and Hall of Fame inductee Pat Riley has a resume that is unquestionably one of the most impressive in all of sports. Few in any profession have achieved the levels of success that Riley has accomplished while serving various roles in over half a century of dedication to the game he loves. The list of accomplishments for the nine-time NBA champion is equally long and impressive. Winning has been a constant for Riley, who after the HEAT reached the NBA Finals in 2020, has reached the Finals as either a player, coach or administrator in an unprecedented six consecutive decades.

When Riley first arrived in Miami in September of 1995 he spoke about his vision of a championship parade down beautiful Biscayne Boulevard. That vision has been fulfilled three times, as under his guidance the HEAT has become just one of 11 NBA franchises to win multiple championships, claiming the league's top prize in 2006, 2012 and again in 2013. For Riley, winning a championship was nothing new. He arrived in Miami with a championship pedigree having previously won NBA titles as a player, assistant coach and head coach. It's that record of success that led to him earning the highest praise that can be bestowed upon an individual in the NBA. On September 5, 2008, in his first year of consideration, Riley was enshrined with the class of 2008 into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame.

Riley has established a standard of excellence within the franchise, a culture both on and off the court, that has continually allowed the team to reach unprecedented heights and has positioned it as one of the most respected and successful in the NBA. Never was that more evident than when Riley guided his group of "15 Strong" to the franchise's first NBA championship in Dallas on June 20, 2006. After the game, Riley commented that he had packed one suit, one shirt and one tie for the trip to Dallas. What he brought back to Miami was its first championship, fulfilling that vision he spoke about when arriving in Miami in 1995. In 2012 and 2013, he watched his hand-picked successor Erik Spoelstra guide teams that he put together as HEAT President once again reach the top of the mountain and enjoy back-to-back championships in an arena built largely as a result of his success. Since his arrival 31 years ago, the HEAT are just one of three teams (joining the New York Yankees and San Antonio Spurs) out of 124 in the four major North American professional sports leagues that can boast of having made at least 24 postseason appearances and having captured at least three championships. It's that success and the sacrifices he made along the way that has earned the respect of his peers and led to him receiving the Chuck Daly Lifetime Achievement Award from the National Basketball Coaches Association during the 2012 NBA Finals.

For the past 31 seasons, Riley's influence can be found throughout the HEAT organization as he has transformed the team from its early years to one of the most successful and desired destinations throughout the league. Prior to the 2024-25 season, to celebrate his 30th season with the organization, the HEAT honored Riley by naming its' court "Pat Riley Court at Kaseya Center", making him just the second coach in NBA history to receive such an honor, joining Boston's Red Auerbach.

His work off the court constantly re-shaping the roster has been crucial in the HEAT winning three championships on the court. Never was that more evident than the summer of 2010. After two seasons of positioning the HEAT to be a major player in the 2010 free agent pursuit, while still earning a pair of postseason berths, Riley proved to be the architect of one of the most successful off-seasons in NBA history. His work the previous two seasons put Miami in position to be able to add several key pieces in the 2010 free agent market and he delivered a star-studded class. In addition to accomplishing his stated mission of re-signing Dwyane Wade to a long-term contract, he also convinced perennial All-Stars Chris Bosh and LeBron James to combine forces and join the HEAT to help form the core of what would be a championship contender. The trio paid immediate dividends helping lead the HEAT to the NBA Finals in each of their four seasons together. The star power Riley assembled also produced great results off the court as well, as Miami led the NBA in road attendance and sold out every home game in each of their four seasons together. As a result of his efforts pulling off a major coup, Riley was named The Sporting News 2010-11 Executive of the Year and shared the NBA's Executive of the Year award.

For Riley, the summer of 2010 was just one more example of him working his magic in the front office. Since his arrival in Miami, he has engineered some of the biggest trades in the NBA, deals that have brought All-Stars Alonzo Mourning, Tim Hardaway, Eddie Jones, Shaquille O'Neal, Shawn Marion, Chris Bosh, LeBron James, Goran Dragić, Jimmy Butler, Kyle Lowry and Giannis Antetokounmpo to the HEAT as well as add talented players Brian Grant and Jamal Mashburn. Additionally, prior to the 2005-06 season, he made headlines as he helped engineer the largest trade in NBA history at the time, a five-team, 13-player blockbuster, in which the HEAT obtained All-Star Antoine Walker from Boston along with Jason Williams and James Posey from Memphis, all key contributors in the HEAT's first NBA championship. He would execute another five-team trade in the 2024-25 season that saw the HEAT acquire NBA champion Andrew Wiggins from Golden State along with Davion Mitchell from Toronto, a move that would ultimately help Miami secure a place in the playoffs that season and remain key components of the current HEAT team with championship aspirations. He has also used the free agent market in the past to help build the HEAT into a championship team. Riley made a big splash in the summer of 2003 when he signed free agent Lamar Odom, who went on to enjoy his finest NBA season to date before becoming the centerpiece in the trade to acquire then 11-time All-Star O'Neal. He has also used the free agent market to acquire solid veterans Mike Miller, Shane Battier, Hall of Famers Ray Allen and Gary Payton, Rashard Lewis and Chris Andersen to all be key parts of this championship franchise. Riley has also helped shape the HEAT through the years with the successful drafting of Dwyane Wade, Bam Adebayo, Tyler Herro, Caron Butler, Jaime Jaquez Jr. and Kel'el Ware and also scored with the signing of undrafted free agents Duncan Robinson, who is Miami's all-time leader in three-point field goals made, and Udonis Haslem, who went on to become the all-time rebound leader in franchise history.

Riley's keen eye to spot talent has not been limited to just the players. His two head coaching hires have proven to be extremely successful as well as he promoted former assistant coaches Stan Van Gundy and Erik Spoelstra, giving each their first NBA head coaching job. Both rewarded that faith by becoming among the best coaches in the NBA. Each has guided teams to the NBA Finals during their head coaching careers, won over 56 percent of their games and entering the 2026-27 season, Spoelstra and Van Gundy rank 17th and 32nd respectively on the NBA's all-time wins list. After leading Miami to back-to-back NBA championships in 2012 and 2013, Spoelstra became one of just 14 coaches in NBA history to win multiple championships and one of only nine to win consecutive championships. His 109 wins and .570 winning percentage are both tops in HEAT postseason history.

With all the big moves Riley has made to shape the HEAT, the most important trade he was involved with might very well have been the one that delivered him to Miami. Looking to change the face of an organization in its infancy and become a solid contender year after year, HEAT Managing General Partner Micky Arison agreed to send a first-round draft pick and $1 million dollars to the New York Knicks on September 1, 1995 for the rights to Pat Riley. One day later, Riley was named the team's fourth head coach and team president. From that point, the face of the organization changed. Riley brought with him star power, a proven track record, professionalism and results. Since he arrived in 1995, the HEAT has compiled a 1,396-1,079 (.564) record, the best record in the Eastern Conference over that 31-year span and the fourth best in the NBA. Miami has made 24 postseason appearances under his leadership, has captured 16 division titles, the most in the NBA over that span, and earned seven trips to the NBA Finals, winning three NBA championships.

Riley's resume is filled with milestones during an NBA career that spans 57 years as a player, assistant coach, head coach, administrator and broadcaster and has produced nine NBA championships. He compiled a 1,210-694 (.636) all-time record guiding the Los Angeles Lakers, New York Knicks and the Miami HEAT during a 24-year head coaching career that is one of the most impressive in all of sports. His 1,210 regular season victories place him fifth on the NBA's all-time list, his 1,904 games coached ranks 11th and his .636 winning percentage in the regular season places him fifth in league history among coaches who have coached at least 500 games. Riley averaged 50 wins per season in his coaching career. Additionally, his 171 postseason victories rank second in NBA history, his 282 postseason games coached are third and his .606 postseason winning percentage is eighth best all-time in the league annals among coaches who have coached at least 50 postseason games. His five NBA championships as a head coach tie him with John Kundla and Gregg Popovich for the third highest total in NBA history. As a result of his many accomplishments, in 1996-97 as the NBA celebrated its 50th Anniversary, Riley was named one of the Top 10 Coaches of All-Time by a panel of media who regularly cover the league and in 2021-22 as the NBA celebrated its 75th Anniversary he was named one of the Top 15 Coaches of All-Time as was his successor Spoelstra. Simply put, Riley is a winner.

No matter the odds, "getting the job done" has never been a problem for a person who has seen winning from all angles. As a youthful role player for the 1971-72 Los Angeles Lakers, Riley earned the first of his nine NBA championship rings. He claimed another as an assistant under Lakers coach Paul Westhead in 1979-80. The New York native collected four more titles for the Lakers as the team's top man in 1982, 1985, 1987 and 1988. Eighteen years later, he guided the HEAT to their first NBA Championship, his fifth as a head coach, and then in 2012 and 2013 he claimed rings eight and nine as HEAT President. The 18-year span between championships as a head coach established an NBA record. As a head coach, his teams advanced to the NBA Finals nine times, the Conference Finals on 12 occasions and captured 18 divisional championships, nine conference championships and five NBA titles. He has been honored as the NBA Coach of the Year on three occasions, the only coach in NBA history to receive the award with three different teams. Riley has also captured NBA Coach of the Month honors 11 times. His 21 total postseason appearances as a head coach and his string of 19 consecutive postseason appearances from 1982-2001 both trail only San Antonio's Gregg Popovich for tops in league history. Riley has also served as a head coach in nine NBA All-Star games, second only to Red Auerbach.

In his illustrious career, Riley guided his teams to at least 50 wins in a season 17 times and has amassed seven 60-win seasons, achieving the milestone with each of the three franchises he guided. His seven 60-win seasons are tied for the most by a coach in NBA history and his 17 50-win seasons are tied for the second most. When he began the 2000-01 season with an Opening Night victory over Orlando on November 1, he became just the second coach in NBA history to reach 1,000 wins. Riley currently ranks second in both regular season and postseason wins for both the HEAT and the Lakers.

During his first stint guiding the HEAT, Riley led Miami to 354 victories and four consecutive Atlantic Division titles over an eight-year period. Riley, who ranks second in games coached with Miami at 849, returned to the bench on Dec. 12, 2005 after a two-year hiatus where he concentrated on building the team from the front office. Upon his return he successfully navigated the HEAT to the pinnacle of the basketball world in 2006 and added more luster to a legacy and resume that did not need further validation. Riley compiled a 454-395 record (.535) during his 11 seasons on the HEAT sidelines and guided Miami to eight playoff appearances and 34 postseason victories. Prior to his arrival the franchise had compiled a 205-369 (.357) mark, with one winning season, two playoff appearances and two postseason wins in its first seven years.

On the eve of his first season in Miami, Riley changed the look of the HEAT by designing a six-player trade that brought in Mourning, who became the HEAT's first All-Star. He sprang into action again on February 22, 1996, making three trades involving 10 players just hours before the trading deadline that cleared the way for future free agent signings and brought Hardaway to Miami. Hardaway became a two-time All-Star during his stint with Riley and in 1996-97 was named to the backcourt with Michael Jordan on the All-NBA First Team. Those moves created the foundation in which the HEAT has been built upon and helped send the message that Riley would do whatever it took to produce a winner in Miami.

And the team has been winning ever since. In addition to delivering three NBA championships to Miami, Riley's HEAT tenure has included many highlights. In 1996-97 he garnered a third NBA Coach of the Year honor with his third team, an unprecedented feat in league history, after leading Miami to a 61-21 (.744) record and the HEAT's first trip to the Eastern Conference Finals. During the 1998-99 campaign he led Miami to the best record and the number one seed in the Eastern Conference for the first time. The 1999-00 season saw the HEAT capture its fourth consecutive Atlantic Division crown. That season also culminated a dream for the franchise as Riley ushered Miami into its beautiful new home, a state-of-the-art downtown bayside arena (now known as Kaseya Center). The following season, Riley turned in what many experts claim was one of the best coaching jobs of his amazing career. After re-working the roster in the summer of 2000 by acquiring three-time All-Star Eddie Jones and hard-working power forward Brian Grant to make a run at a possible championship, Riley had to guide the franchise through one of the biggest jolts in its history. On October 16, in the middle of the pre-season, Alonzo Mourning, the team's centerpiece, announced that due to a kidney disease he was expected to miss the entire season. Despite the devastating news, Riley guided the HEAT to a 50-32 record for a second-place finish in the Atlantic Division and the third best record in the conference.

Before joining the HEAT, Riley spent four successful seasons as the head coach of the New York Knicks. Prior to Riley's arrival the Knicks had posted just four winning seasons in the previous 10 years (1981-91). During his four-year stint in New York, Riley guided the Knicks to four straight winning seasons, four consecutive playoff berths and compiled a 223-105 record. His .680 winning percentage is the best in Knicks history, easily outdistancing Mike Brown who ranks second (.646), and his 223 victories rank fifth on the club's all-time list. He recorded at least 50 wins in each of his four seasons in New York, the only time in Knicks history the team posted at least 50 wins in four consecutive years. The highlight of his career with the Knicks was leading them to the 1994 NBA Finals, New York's first trip to the Finals since the 1972-73 season. Riley's teams won three consecutive Atlantic Division titles in his first three years (1991-94) in New York, and his tireless dedication earned him his second NBA Coach of the Year honor in 1993.

Prior to leading the Knicks, Riley was head coach of the Lakers for nine years and guided the team to four NBA titles and three other NBA Finals appearances. After taking over for Paul Westhead 11 games into the 1981-82 season, he led the Lakers to the NBA Championship in his first season as a head coach in the league. Under Riley, the Lakers became the first NBA team to win 60 games in four consecutive seasons (1984-85 through 1987-88). He won the Pacific Division title in each of his nine years leading the Lakers and was honored as the 1990 NBA Coach of the Year. He compiled a 533-194 (.733) regular season record in his nine seasons in L.A. and won at least 50 games each year. Riley, who averaged 59 wins a season in L.A., brought "Showtime" to the Great Western Forum. Under Riley the Lakers recorded a 305-59 (.838) regular season mark at home. His teams also compiled a 102-47 (.685) postseason record. His 102 postseason victories rank second on the Lakers' all-time list as do his 533 regular season wins. On February 22, 2026, the Lakers unveiled a statue of Riley outside Crypto.com Arena, making him the eighth Laker to receive the tribute. The statue, which honors his significant role during the "Showtime" era, joins seven other Laker legends commemorated in bronze on Star Plaza.

After leaving the Lakers, Riley served as co-host of NBA Showtime on NBC in 1990-91 before joining the Knicks in the fall of 1991. It was a return to the television booth for Riley who was Chick Hearn's partner on Lakers' broadcasts after his playing days ended (1977-79). He returned to the bench early in the 1979-80 campaign when Lakers' Head Coach Paul Westhead asked him to become an assistant coach.

As a player, Riley had an extensive nine-year career. He was the 1967 first-round pick (seventh overall) of the San Diego Rockets for their inaugural 1967-68 season. After three seasons, he joined the Lakers in 1970-71 and played five years. He was a member of the 1971-72 Lakers team that won an NBA-record 33 consecutive games and the NBA Championship. Riley finished his playing career with the 1976 Western Conference Champion Phoenix Suns.

Born in Schenectady, NY, Riley attended Linton High School where he became a two-sport star in basketball and football. He was a member of the Linton basketball team that beat historic Power Memorial High and center Lew Alcindor, who, as Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, would later lead Riley's Lakers to greatness. As a tribute to his accomplishments, Linton renamed its gym in Riley's honor in 1997 and inducted him into its hall of fame in 2000.

After turning down an offer to play football for Bear Bryant at Alabama, Riley decided instead to play basketball for Adolph Rupp at Kentucky from 1963-67. He was a collegiate star, earning team MVP honors three times and averaging 22 points per game on the Wildcats' famed "Rupp's Runts" squad that lost in the 1966 NCAA Finals to Texas Western. A gifted athlete, he was an 11th-round draft choice of the NFL's Dallas Cowboys in 1967 although he never played college football. His brother, Lee, played defensive back for the Detroit Lions, Philadelphia Eagles and New York Giants of the NFL (1955-60) and for the New York Titans of the American Football League (1961-62). His father, Leon, was a major league catcher/outfielder with Philadelphia in 1944 and became a minor league manager in the Phillies' organization.

Along with his wife, Chris, Riley has been involved with numerous charity and community service projects throughout his career. They founded The Miami HEAT Family Outreach in 1997 which has raised more than $31 million for the South Florida community and whose primary beneficiaries include Jackson Memorial Foundation's Guardian Angels which supports the Holtz Center for seriously ill children and SafeSpace which is a domestic violence shelter for women and their children. They are also involved in the Pediatric AIDS Foundation's Kids for Kids organization which they started in 1992 in New York, and the YMCA in Los Angeles, New York, and Miami. For over 30 years the Riley's have been actively involved with Boys and Girls Clubs of America. As a result of his efforts, Riley has received many prestigious awards, including the Miami Project Sports Legend Award in 1992, Boys and Girls Clubs Miami Person of the Year Award in 1998, and was honored by the YMCA Miami in 1998. Riley was also instrumental in establishing the HEAT's Home Strong program in 2006 which supports military service members and assists them as they navigate the transition to civilian life.

Riley is not only one of professional basketball's winningest coaches, but his speeches before hundreds of corporations have earned him the title of "America's Greatest Motivational Speaker." He has been rated by SUCCESS magazine as "The best in his field." Riley has also completed an award winning 30-minute motivational video entitled "Teamwork" in which he applies his winning philosophies to business and life in general. In addition to being one of the most sought after motivational speakers in the country, Riley has authored two books, Show Time and The Winner Within. Pat and his wife, Chris, have two children, James Patrick, and Elisabeth Marie.

ERIC WOOLWORTH

PRESIDENT, BUSINESS OPERATIONS

The 2026-27 season marks Eric Woolworth's 32nd season with The HEAT Group and 27th at the helm of the organization as President, Business Operations, during which he has made an indelible impression on both the Miami HEAT and Kaseya Center. His leadership has helped transform the organization and redefine its corporate identity into a customer service and sales-driven machine that is among the elite in the sports and entertainment industry. Under Woolworth's direction, the HEAT has been consistently recognized as an NBA leader in customer service, fan entertainment, marketing, sales, and Arena operations, and has become a recognized leader in the South Florida business community. Working side by side with Pat Riley, Woolworth's efforts have made the HEAT a first-class organization away from the court as much as it is on it.

Woolworth's primary responsibility consists of directing and overseeing all non-basketball aspects of the organization from Marketing and Social Responsibility to Sales and Service, Human Capital, Business Intelligence, Merchandising, Finance, Event and Arena Operations, and more. His efforts have created a professional cutting-edge atmosphere for both the employees and the customers.

Under Woolworth's leadership, The HEAT Group has championed and implemented ELEVATE, an NBA initiative designed to improve the customer experience by striving for excellence at every level of the business. Since the program's inception in 2013, The HEAT Group has achieved the highest overall satisfaction rating among teams participating in the ELEVATE initiative.

Woolworth was the driving force behind the franchise's focus to mobile-centric technology and the award-winning Miami HEAT Mobile App. The App's primary features—Digital Ticketing and Fan Loyalty—create a seamless, paperless platform, which customizes and further enhances the fan's in-arena experience. In 2017-18, the HEAT was the first team in the NBA to introduce contactless ticketing, allowing fans to tap their phones to get into the arena.

Under Woolworth's guidance, The HEAT Group's Business Operations Division continues to garner accolades in a variety of disciplines including winning the 2024 Alvah H. Chapman, Jr. Award of Excellence for making significant contributions to the development of Miami's central business district; and being named the NBA's 2021 Team of the Year for demonstrated excellence in business performance across both key revenue drivers and operational focus areas such as people and culture, and community impact. Additionally, the franchise continues to log repeated and league-high season ticket renewal rates, league-leading retail merchandise sales, and the unveiling of a fourth "Mindfulness Sanctuary" at Alonzo and Tracy Mourning Senior High School, making it the 25th educational safe space unveiled under the team's "Learn and Play Center" umbrella. The HEAT was also the inaugural winner of the NBA's 2018 Inclusion Leadership Award for the franchise's lengthy history and ongoing commitment to diversity and inclusion.

Moreover, the HEAT is a consistent leader in social media engagement and growth with a combined 28 million worldwide followers through its channels.

Woolworth has been instrumental in harnessing the power of business intelligence. He oversaw the launch of 601 Analytics, a full-service, in-house data collection and analysis platform that gathers data on every aspect of the business providing a real time view into the franchise's business operations. Today, 601 Analytics serves clients in seven professional sports leagues in two continents and supported the 2026 FIFA World Cup through a Venue Intelligence Hub built to streamline reporting and decision-making for over 100 matches in 16 stadiums and three countries.

In addition, in September 2020, the HEAT established a ground-breaking partnership with the Miami Police Department and Dedication to Community (D2C) to administer specialized training to the entirety of Miami's police force with the goals of positively impacting interactions between law enforcement and the South Florida community—particularly the Black community. The NBA recognized this unique program by awarding the HEAT the 2021 Values of the Game Award for inspiring and connecting people in the Miami community through the power of basketball.

In April 2023, the HEAT inked a multi-year naming rights and sponsorship deal with Kaseya, the leading global provider of unified IT management and security software for managed services providers and IT professionals, renaming the home of the HEAT "Kaseya Center." The deal is a testament to the enduring and fruitful public/private partnership Woolworth has built with Miami-Dade County.

Since 2024, the Kaseya Center unveiled a series of multi-million-dollar facility upgrades including new lighting and audio systems, a new retractable seating system, and a new crown jewel at the center of the venue: a spectacular, one-of-a-kind scoreboard display—nicknamed "Fireball"—a dynamic 3-Dimensional replica of the team's iconic ball and flame logo. Additionally, the venue overhauled 20 suites, 52 loges, North and South Lounge premium dining areas, and created iconic new spaces such as the speakeasy-inspired hotspot, Hard Rock Bet Lounge, and The 1988 Club, a world-class hospitality hub featuring MICHELIN-starred chef, Jeremy Ford.

Woolworth's efforts have also firmly planted Kaseya Center on the map of elite venues hosting such world-class acts as Madonna, Marc Anthony, Bad Bunny, Beyoncé, Billie Eilish, Dua Lipa, Lady Gaga, U2, Paul McCartney, Justin Bieber, Miley Cyrus, Kendrick Lamar, Jennifer Lopez, Taylor Swift, Bruno Mars, Coldplay and many others. The Arena also secured the 2004 and 2005 MTV Video Music Awards, UFC 287 and 299 and internationally televised award shows Premio Lo Nuestro and the Latin Grammy Awards.

The Kaseya Center is also a celebrated leader in the facilities industry due to Woolworth's leadership. The Center has maintained its position as the #1 arena in Florida for the 11th consecutive year—and for the 14th time during the past 15 years—according to Billboard's 2025 year-end rankings of the world's top arenas. Additionally, Kaseya Center was named Billboard's 2026 top East Coast Arena.

Woolworth steadily climbed the ranks of The HEAT Group, joining the HEAT as General Counsel in 1995 after a successful legal career in Washington, D.C. His business acumen and key role in the development of the Kaseya Center led to his promotion to President, Business Operations in January of 2001.

Woolworth is a cum laude graduate of both Georgetown University and Georgetown University Law Center. He lives with his wife, Jocelyn, their son, Jackson, and daughter, Cassidy, in Coral Gables.

ERIK SPOELSTRA

MIAMI HEAT/USA BASKETBALL HEAD COACH

Erik Spoelstra begins his 19th season as head coach of the HEAT and his 32nd as a member of the organization. He currently holds the distinction of being the longest-tenured active head coach across all four major North American professional sports leagues (NBA, NFL, MLB, and NHL). Since being elevated to his current position on April 28, 2008, Spoelstra has rewarded the faith that HEAT President Pat Riley showed in him by compiling an 830-611 regular season record, a 110-83 postseason mark, 14 postseason appearances, nine division titles, six conference championships and guiding the franchise to a pair of NBA championships. Since his ascension to head coach, Miami has the fifth-highest regular season and third-highest postseason winning percentages in the NBA (both second in the Eastern Conference). In February 2022, Spoelstra was chosen as one of the 15 Greatest Coaches in NBA history as part of the league's 75th Anniversary Season celebration. Widely regarded as one of the greatest tactical minds in basketball, Spoelstra was named as the head coach of the USA Basketball Men's National Team, having been appointed to lead the program through the 2027 FIBA Men's World Cup and the 2028 Olympic Games in Los Angeles.

In 18 seasons at the helm, Spoelstra has already established his place in the HEAT record book as the winningest coach in franchise history. He holds the franchise postseason records for victories (110), series won (23) and games coached (193). In regular season play he ranks first in victories (830), games coached (1,441) and winning percentage (.576). Spoelstra, who passed Riley on Miami's all-time victory list with win number 455 on Dec. 16, 2017, has also been honored as the NBA's Eastern Conference Coach of the Month a franchise-record 10 times.

Since replacing Riley on the HEAT bench 18 years ago, Spoelstra has seen the expectations for his team change dramatically from the time he was appointed head coach until now. When he inherited the head coaching reins in 2008 he was given the task of improving a young team that had been ravaged by injuries the previous season and had won just 15 games. Two years later, after the summer of 2010 in which Miami re-signed Dwyane Wade and acquired All-Stars LeBron James and Chris Bosh, he found himself coaching a highly-talented, veteran group that was the most scrutinized team in the NBA. Throughout his tenure he has remained a steadying influence for his team and it has paid huge dividends in return. When the HEAT defeated Indiana in the 2014 Eastern Conference Finals they became just the third franchise in NBA history to make four consecutive NBA Finals appearances, joining the Celtics and Lakers. It also made them just one of 10 franchises at the time in the four major North American sports leagues to make four consecutive trips to the league championship. Individually, Spoelstra became just the fourth head coach in NBA history to lead his team to four consecutive Finals appearances joining Red Auerbach, K.C. Jones and Pat Riley, all of whom have been inducted into the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame.

Spoelstra joined a very elite fraternity when he led the HEAT to a series win over the San Antonio Spurs in the 2013 NBA Finals. Upon capturing the 2013 NBA Championship he became just the 13th head coach in NBA history to have won multiple championships and only the eighth to win a championship in consecutive seasons. In regular season play, he's currently 17th on the NBA's all-time victories list and 21st all-time in win percentage (minimum 500 games coached).

Since he took over the HEAT in 2008, no coach has recorded more playoff victories than Spoelstra's 110 and his 23 postseason series victories are just one shy of Golden State's Steve Kerr (24) for the most by an individual coach during that span. Under Spoelstra, the HEAT has advanced to the playoffs in 14 of his 18 seasons and have won 23 of 35 postseason series (.657 winning percentage), including a franchise-record 11 consecutive series from 2012-14. Spoelstra's teams have a 23-13 (.639) record when having an opponent on the brink of elimination, including a 13-3 (.813) mark at home, and a 12-12 (.500) mark when they are on the brink of elimination. One of the keys to that success has been Miami's dominance at home under Spoelstra. In his 18 seasons, Spoelstra's regular season record at home is a sterling 466-250 (.651) and his postseason record is an even better 59-28 (.678). The HEAT has also proven their ability to win away from home, evidenced by five straight seasons from 2009-14 that Miami posted a winning road record, a first in franchise history. Additionally, Miami won at least one postseason road game in 23 consecutive series from 2011-20, the second-best mark in NBA history.

During the 2023-24 season he made history when he guided the HEAT to their sixth consecutive playoff berth tying the franchise record initially set from 1996-2001 and then matched from 2009-14. Along the way, Miami became the first 10th seed to advance to the playoffs after recording road wins in Chicago and in overtime in Atlanta in the Play-In Tournament to capture the eighth seed and final playoff berth in the Eastern Conference.

The 2022-23 season saw Spoelstra lead the HEAT on a magical run to the NBA Finals for the sixth time in a 13-year span, tied with Golden State for the most Finals appearances in that period. The Finals appearance was his sixth as a head coach putting him in elite company, joining Phil Jackson (13), Red Auerbach (11), Pat Riley (9), Gregg Popovich (6) and Steve Kerr (6) as the only coaches to lead their teams to the Finals at least six times. Additionally, he guided Miami to a Southeastern Division championship, his ninth as a head coach. The HEAT entered the playoffs as the eighth-seed in the East and went on to upset both top-seeded Milwaukee and second-seeded Boston, eliminating both teams in their own arenas. He also reached a personal milestone capturing his 700th career win on Mar. 22, 2023 against the Knicks.

During the 2021-22 season, Spoelstra led Miami to the best record in the Eastern Conference and another Southeast Division championship. Miami came within one game of earning another trip to the NBA Finals, dropping a seven-game series to Boston in the Conference Finals. In December of that season he was named NBA Eastern Conference Coach of the Month for the ninth time and in February he served as head coach in the NBA All-Star Game for the second time in his career.

ERIK SPOELSTRA HEAD COACH

Adaptability has long been a strength of Spoelstra and never was it more important than the 2019-20 season when he navigated his team through the many challenges of balancing the pandemic-interrupted season on the court while also championing the HEAT's fight for social justice off the court. Spoelstra's attention to detail was crucial as he guided the HEAT on an improbable run to its sixth NBA Finals appearance. The HEAT captured another Southeast Division championship and entered the playoffs as the number five seed in the East. Miami then proceeded to sweep fourth-seed Indiana in the opening round, eliminate top-seeded Milwaukee in five games in the Conference Semifinals and defeat Boston in six games in the Conference Finals before dropping the NBA Finals to the Lakers in six games.

In a career highlighted by multiple championships and Finals appearances, the 2016-17 campaign might have been Spoelstra's greatest coaching job. Despite leading the league in games missed due to injury, Spoelstra guided the HEAT to the greatest in-season turnaround in NBA history and as a result shared the National Basketball Coaches Association inaugural Michael H. Goldberg Coach of the Year Award with Mike D'Antoni. After compiling an 11-30 (.268) record at the halfway point of the season, Miami went 30-11 (.732) over the final 41 games to finish the season at .500. Previously, no team in NBA history that was at least 19 games under .500, at any point during the season, had ever managed to end the season at .500. The HEAT's second half turnaround was highlighted by a 13-game winning streak from Jan. 17-Feb. 10, the franchise's third-longest winning streak and the longest in NBA history by any team that was at least 19 games under .500.

The 2013-14 season saw the HEAT capture their fourth straight Eastern Conference Championship, fourth straight Southeast Division title and their sixth straight postseason appearance, tying the franchise record for consecutive postseason berths. Spoelstra added to his individual accolades capturing Coach of the Month honors for the month of February after guiding Miami to a 9-1 record. On Feb. 23, he notched his 300th career victory against Chicago in just his 448th game, reaching that milestone in fewer games than any coach in franchise history.

After guiding Miami to its second NBA crown in 2012, Spoelstra and his team knew they would get everyone's best shot on a daily basis during the 2012-13 season and what the HEAT accomplished under Spoelstra was one of the greatest seasons in NBA history. It was a season filled with highlights from participating in a preseason tour in China to ending with a championship celebration on their home floor on June 20, 2013.

Spoelstra guided the HEAT to a franchise-record 66-win regular season which included a 27-game winning streak from Feb. 3-Mar. 25, the second longest single-season streak in NBA history. In large part due to the winning streak, the HEAT finished the second half of the 2012-13 season with a 38-3 record and lost just one game each in the months of February, March and April. The 17-1 record in March set a franchise record for victories in any month. As a result of the streak, Spoelstra was named the NBA Eastern Conference Coach of the Month in both February and March becoming the first HEAT coach to receive the honors in consecutive months. The record-setting season also helped Spoelstra earn the honor of coaching the Eastern Conference at the 2013 NBA All-Star Game, a first in his career.

The 2012 championship culminated a compressed 2011-12 season in which Miami went 46-20 and captured its second consecutive Southeast Division title. The regular season was highlighted by a nine-game win streak (Feb. 10-Mar. 1) with each victory by double-digits. During the streak the HEAT became the first team to win road games on three consecutive nights (Feb. 12-14) since December of 1979 and the first to win each of those contests by double-digits since the 1970-71 season.

Miami's success during the 2011-12 campaign was keyed by its defense as the HEAT finished ranked in the top five in field goal percentage defense for the third straight year. The HEAT also proved dominant at home, posting a 28-5 record, which included a 17-game home winning streak, the second longest in franchise history. The 28 home victories tied for the most in the league and the .848 home winning percentage is the third best single-season mark in franchise history.

Spoelstra led Miami to a 58-24 regular season record, a Southeast Division title and an Eastern Conference championship in 2010-11. The 58 wins mark the fourth best total in franchise history and Miami's 28 road wins tied for the most in the NBA in 2010-11 and rank third in HEAT history. Spoelstra earned NBA Eastern Conference Coach of the Month honors in December after guiding the HEAT to a 15-1 record, including a perfect 10-0 mark on the road. The 10 road victories in December set a franchise record for any month and the HEAT established an NBA record for most consecutive road wins in a calendar month. Defense was once again the cornerstone of the HEAT's success as Miami led the NBA in point differential, finished second in defensive field goal percentage and sixth in scoring defense.

After an impressive rookie campaign, Spoelstra guided Miami to a 47-35 record in 2009-10. Under his leadership the HEAT closed the season by winning 18 of its final 22 games, including a 12-3 record in March which earned him NBA Eastern Conference Coach of the Month honors. The 2009-10 season was one of the best defensive seasons for Miami as it allowed the fewest field goals in the NBA and finished second in both points allowed and defensive field goal percentage.

During his rookie season, Spoelstra engineered a remarkable 28-win turnaround, elevating the 15-win team he inherited to 43 wins and a 2009 playoff berth. This achievement set a rookie head coach record for single-season improvement and ranked seventh-best in NBA history overall. Furthermore, it made Miami only the second franchise ever to jump from 15 or fewer wins into the postseason the following year, joining the 1968-69 San Diego Rockets.

Before taking over the reins as the sixth head coach in HEAT history, Spoelstra had served Miami in a number of roles in his first 13 years. He was originally hired as video coordinator and over the years was promoted to assistant coach/video coordinator, assistant coach/advance scout and assistant coach/director of scouting before ascending to head coach. He made a name for himself around the league with his game preparation and superb attention to detail. In his seven seasons as the HEAT's assistant coach/director of scouting, he had the primary role of developing game plans for upcoming opponents. To that end, he coordinated the video staff and advance scouts while overseeing the development of scouting reports and videos.

Spoelstra, who helped design and integrate a proprietary statistical database and scouting software for the HEAT, has earned a strong reputation as a teacher over the years by heading Miami's Individual Player Development Program. As an assistant coach, where he also served for three seasons (2005-07) as the head coach of the HEAT's summer league team, he worked tirelessly with many of Miami's young players in areas of skill development and shooting. This consistent emphasis on fundamentals and teaching, throughout his career, has helped Miami earn a reputation for having one of the best development programs in the NBA. It's one of the factors that led USA Basketball to choose him as the head coach of the 2020 USA Select Team that helped prepare the US Senior National Team for the 2020 Olympic Games where they once again captured the gold-medal. Spoelstra's journey with USA Basketball didn't end there, as he was named an Assistant Coach for the 2022-24 USA Men's National Team, where he helped Head Coach Steve Kerr and the USA squad claim gold at the 2024 Summer Olympic Games in Paris.

In July 2009, Spoelstra embarked on the first of four trips back to his native Philippines. In each of those trips, he has hosted basketball and coaches' clinics, promoted the importance of education, healthy living, and wellness, while being able to reach close to 10,000 underprivileged youth. In 2011, the nine-day program in Manila was the largest NBA FIT event ever hosted in Southeast Asia. During the summer of 2012, Spoelstra expanded this program to include the country of Singapore. Spoelstra's commitment to help grow the game of basketball globally also includes serving as head coach for Team World in the NBA Africa Game 2017 in Johannesburg, South Africa as part of Basketball Without Borders Africa in August 2017.

In 1992, he graduated from the University of Portland with a degree in communications. While attending Portland, Spoelstra was the starting point guard for four years and was named the West Coast Conference Freshman of the Year in 1989. Upon graduating he spent two years in Germany as a player/coach for TuS Herten.

Raised in Portland, OR, Spoelstra, who was inducted into the Jesuit High School Athletic Hall of Fame in September 2009, is the first Asian/Filipino-American head coach in any of the major North American sports leagues. He is not the only member of his family to have a successful career in professional sports. His father, Jon Spoelstra, was a long-time NBA executive who guided the Portland Trail Blazers, Denver Nuggets, Buffalo Braves, and New Jersey Nets, and his grandfather, Watson Spoelstra, was a Detroit Tigers beat writer for many years.

In his free time, Spoelstra enjoys spending time with his children Santiago, Dante and Ruby and their dog, Rosie.

ANDY ELISBURG

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT, BASKETBALL OPERATIONS/ GENERAL MANAGER

Andy Elisburg enters his fourth season as Executive Vice President, Basketball Operations/ General Manager where he continues to assist CEO Nick Arison and President Pat Riley in the management of all aspects of the HEAT's basketball organization including salary cap administration, talent acquisition, league compliance and the day-to-day business of basketball operations.

He is a HEAT original, joining the franchise in its inaugural 1988 season. For the past 31 years, Elisburg has been working in basketball operations, and prior to his current post, he served 10 years as Senior Vice President/General Manager, playing an integral role in salary cap planning and basketball operations management, while overseeing the day-to-day operations at Kaseya Center.

With the challenges and the complexities in dealing with the league salary cap and luxury tax, Elisburg's knowledge and experience continues to be called upon to build on the team's unprecedented success. The results of that success include three NBA Championships, seven Eastern Conference Championships, 24 postseason berths in the last 31 years (including a franchise-tying six-straight appearances from 2009-14 and 2020-25), 16 division championships and the fourth-most wins (1,396) in the NBA (the most in the Eastern Conference) since 1995.

During the off-season, Elisburg assists Riley in maneuvering through the framework of the salary cap and the luxury tax to transform the roster, ensuring the HEAT maintains its status as one of the league's top teams. In one of the most anticipated off-seasons in NBA history, he played a crucial role in the HEAT's successful summer of 2010. His knowledge and expertise of the salary cap proved invaluable as he helped the HEAT re-sign Dwyane Wade and acquire perennial All-Stars LeBron James and Chris Bosh, as well as round out the roster with several key veteran free agent signings to bolster the team's depth throughout a four-year run in which Miami went to the Finals in each year and won two NBA Championships. In recent years he has played a large role in the acquisitions of Bam Adebayo, Giannis Antetokounmpo, Jimmy Butler, Goran Dragić, Tyler Herro, Kyle Lowry, Norman Powell and Andrew Wiggins to help re-shape the HEAT. At the February trade deadline in 2018, Elisburg executed a trade to bring back franchise icon Dwyane Wade, a move which helped propel the HEAT into the playoffs.

In addition to his role with the HEAT, Elisburg also works closely with V.P., Basketball Operations/Assistant General Manager Adam Simon in overseeing the Basketball Operations for the Skyforce. Since Elisburg played a major role in Miami and Sioux Falls fostering an exclusive partnership 13 years ago, the Skyforce has captured the 2015-16 NBA G League championship, earned at least a share of a division title three times and has compiled a 333-257 overall (regular season and Showcase) record. Over the span of the hybrid partnership, the 333 wins recorded by the Skyforce are the third-most in the G League and the .564 winning percentage ranks fourth in the league.

Elisburg began the HEAT's inaugural campaign as an intern in the public relations department before becoming a public relations assistant at the end of the season. He has served in many different capacities, including Assistant Director of Public Relations; Director of Team Services and Information; Director of Team Operations; Vice President, Basketball Operations, Senior Vice President, Basketball Operations, Senior Vice President, Basketball Operations/Assistant General Manager and most recently Senior Vice President/General Manager.

A native of Potomac, MD, Elisburg served an internship with the Washington Bullets in the summer of 1988 before coming to the HEAT. He holds a bachelor's degree in sports administration from St. Thomas University where he was inducted into the school's Athletic Hall of Fame in November of 2017. He was also honored by his alma mater in June of 2004 with their first Leader for Life Award which goes to recognize an alumna/alumnas that has made a significant contribution to their chosen profession. In 2022, he was presented with an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters at the St. Thomas University graduation ceremony in which he served as a keynote speaker. A respected leader in South Florida, Elisburg was the recipient of the 2026 Jim Mandich Courage and Commitment Award presented by Lauren's Kids to honor individuals who inspire others and show exceptional dedication to the community. The award is named in the memory of the late Miami Dolphins tight end, radio broadcaster and philanthropist who famously championed charitable causes in South Florida before passing away in 2011.

DAVID HOLCOMBE

SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT, MIAMI HEAT SECURITY/INVESTIGATIONS

David Holcombe has dedicated nearly three decades to the Miami HEAT organization, building his career from frontline player security to senior executive leadership. Prior to joining the HEAT, he spent 10 years as a sworn Federal and State law enforcement officer focused on major case investigations—a foundation that continues to shape his methodical, investigation-driven approach to security.

Holcombe joined the HEAT in 1996 as a member of the player security detail and advanced steadily through roles of increasing responsibility: Team Security Coordinator (1997–1999), Director of Team Security (1999–2006), Senior Director of Team Security (2006–2016), and Vice President of Team Security (2016–2024). Since 1996, he has also provided game-day security management for nearly 3,000 NBA games from his longstanding presence on the team bench. His game day responsibilities include players, executives, and their family's security, managing on-court conflicts, disruptive fan interactions, threats, court intrusions, and primary security liaison for visiting NBA teams. Holcombe's career experience includes seven seasons of NBA Finals appearances and international games across nine countries throughout two separate USA Basketball Gold Medal runs.

In 2024, Holcombe was named Senior Vice President of Miami HEAT Security/Investigations. In this role, he oversees the organization's full security strategy—policies, programs, personal protection, and internal investigations—spanning players, executives, team staff, visitors, fans, facilities, physical assets, team travel, and the Sioux Falls Skyforce, the HEAT's NBA G-League affiliate. Holcombe specializes in Crisis Management situations. He also builds threat assessments and personal security strategies to address specific risks, and maintains regular, working relationships with federal, state, and local law enforcement agencies across the United States. He partners closely with the HEAT's senior executive group and Kaseya Center management, to ensure the franchise's operational goals and security principles remain closely aligned across all games, events, and during daily business operations.

Holcombe's trajectory—from sworn law enforcement officer to senior security executive—reflects his expertise, judgment, and enduring commitment to the Miami HEAT organization.

TIM DONOVAN

VICE PRESIDENT, SPORTS MEDIA RELATIONS

Entering his 27th year as Vice President, Sports Media Relations and 32nd in the organization, Tim Donovan has seen his responsibilities expand each year and is charged with overseeing all aspects of the HEAT's Sports Media Relations efforts. He also works closely with the marketing, social media, broadcasting, business communications and social responsibility departments to help the organization create initiatives that maximize the team's position as one of the most fan-friendly in the South Florida community. In addition, Donovan will continue to travel with the HEAT as the primary media liaison as well as coordinating all media interviews for the massive amounts of media requests made each year. Under his direction, the HEAT Sports Media Relations staff received the 2020 Brian McIntyre Award which is given annually to the top PR staff in the league as voted on by the Professional Basketball Writers Association.

Donovan originally joined the HEAT as Assistant Director of Public Relations in 1995 after spending more than seven years with the New York Knicks. In January of 1997 he was elevated to Director of Sports Media Relations, a position he held for three and a half years before being promoted to his current position.

Donovan got his start in sports media relations in 1987, as an intern with the Knicks. He received a full-time position during New York's 1989 postseason and was named Public Relations Assistant in October of that year. By May of 1991, Donovan was Manager of Media Relations, serving as the chief liaison between the team and the New York area media.

A graduate of Rutgers University, Donovan lettered for four years on the Scarlet Knights' lacrosse team and helped lead the team to a number six national ranking as a senior. He and his wife, Jessica, reside in Coconut Grove with their two dogs, Henry and Goose.

ALONZO MOURNING

VICE PRESIDENT, PLAYER PROGRAMS

Alonzo Mourning enters his 18th season as Vice President, Player Programs and 30th as a member of the HEAT organization. In his role, Mourning is responsible to ensure the personal and professional development of HEAT players, while providing direct support and one-on-one mentoring. Mourning, who had his number 33 retired by the HEAT in a ceremony on March 30, 2009, is Miami's all-time leader in blocked shots (1,625). He also ranks among the HEAT's all-time leaders in free throws made (2nd) and attempted (2nd), offensive rebounds (2nd), points scored (3rd), double-figure scoring efforts (3rd), total rebounds (3rd), double-doubles (3rd), games played (4th), minutes played (4th), field goals made (4th) and attempted (4th), field goal percentage (4th), defensive rebounds (4th), starts (5th), scoring average (13th) and steals (17th). Over the course of his career, Mourning, who also captured a gold medal with the United States Senior National team at the 2000 Olympics, appeared in 838 games with the HEAT, Charlotte Hornets and New Jersey Nets and averaged 17.1 points, 8.5 rebounds, 2.81 blocked shots, 1.1 assists and 31.0 minutes while shooting 52.7 percent from the floor. He finished his professional career with 14,311 points, 7,137 rebounds and 2,356 blocks (11th all-time in NBA history).

A perennial All-Star on the court, Mourning also works tirelessly for the children of South Florida through his charity, Mourning Family Foundation, to educate and create the opportunity for youth to excel.

ADAM SIMON

VICE PRESIDENT, BASKETBALL OPERATIONS/ASSISTANT GENERAL MANAGER

Adam Simon is entering his 32nd season with the HEAT organization and his eighth in the role of V.P., Basketball Operations/Assistant General Manager. In his current role, Simon assists HEAT Executive V.P., Basketball Operations/General Manager Andy Elisburg in all areas of the HEAT's Basketball Operations department as well as continuing to oversee the Basketball Operations department for the Sioux Falls Skyforce.

As Assistant GM for the HEAT, Simon works closely with Pat Riley and Andy Elisburg in all aspects of player personnel. During his time with the HEAT, Simon has played an integral role in Miami drafting Hall of Famer Dwyane Wade, Caron Butler, Bam Adebayo, Tyler Herro, Jaime Jaquez Jr., Nikola Jović, Kel'el Ware, Pelle Larsson, Josh Richardson and Kasparas Jakučionis, acquiring undrafted players such as Derrick Jones Jr., Duncan Robinson, Tyler Johnson, Kendrick Nunn, Max Strus, Gabe Vincent and Dru Smith and signing Hassan Whiteside out of the G League.

In his six seasons (2013-19) serving as the General Manager of the Skyforce, the team compiled a 178-122 (.593) overall record, captured at least a share of three divisional titles and made the postseason three times, capped by the historic 2015-16 season with the franchise's first NBA G League championship. The 178 wins were the second most in the G League over the six-year period and the .593 win percentage ranked fourth. As a result of the organization's success, Simon received the NBA G League's inaugural Executive of the Year award for the 2015-16 season as Sioux Falls enjoyed its' finest season in franchise history. In addition to capturing the G League championship, the Skyforce complied a 40-10 (.800) record in the regular season, bettering the previous G League single-season record for wins.

Since the HEAT and Skyforce entered into an exclusive partnership, Miami has used Sioux Falls as a training ground for both players and coaches alike. Derrick Jones Jr., Rodney McGruder, Duncan Robinson and Tyler Johnson have all used their time at Sioux Falls to improve their skills and make key contributions to the HEAT. Each of the first three head coaches (Pat Delany, Phil Weber and Dan Craig) to guide the Skyforce since the partnership went on to jobs on NBA benches the season after guiding the Skyforce, including Craig who returned to Miami after capturing G League Coach of the Year honors in 2015-16 while leading Sioux Falls to the G League championship.

In addition to his responsibilities with the HEAT and Skyforce, Simon has been a member of the selection committee for the USA Senior National Team which included the 2017 AmeriCup and the 2019 World Cup qualifying teams. Simon has also participated in the NBA's Basketball Without Borders program that visited Johannesburg, South Africa in both 2006 and 2017, Tel Aviv, Israel in 2017, Belgrade, Serbia in 2018 and Istanbul, Türkiye in 2026.

CHET KAMMERER

SENIOR ADVISOR OF BASKETBALL OPERATIONS/BASKETBALL

Chet Kammerer begins his 31st year with the HEAT and his ninth in the role of Senior Advisor of Basketball Operations/Basketball. Kammerer, who spent the previous 14 seasons (2004-18) as Vice President, Player Personnel, continues to scout for the HEAT and serve as an advisor to President Pat Riley and Executive Vice President, Basketball Operations/General Manager Andy Elisburg as well as a coaching consultant for Head Coach Erik Spoelstra. After initially joining the organization as a scout in 1996, he was promoted to Director of Scouting (1998-99), appointed Director of College Scouting (1999-00) and then spent four seasons (2000-04) as the team's Director of Player Personnel.

Prior to joining the HEAT, Kammerer had a 30-year career in coaching and basketball administration in college, the NBA and international basketball. He was an assistant coach for the Los Angeles Lakers from 1992-94 and then served as head coach of the Division I Professional Basketball Team of Braunschweig, Germany. STEVE STOWE

VICE PRESIDENT/EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR, MIAMI HEAT CHARITABLE FUND

Entering his 27th season with the Miami HEAT and 10th as Vice President/Executive Director of the Miami HEAT Charitable Fund, Steve Stowe oversees the fundraising arm of the organization, while working alongside the players and coaches to support their local philanthropic endeavors, including the Corporate Education Community Outreach Ticket Program and Pat Riley's military appreciation initiative, Home Strong. Additionally, Stowe oversees the Miami HEAT Charitable Fund and serves as a liaison between its board of directors and the rest of the franchise.

Stowe's impact with the HEAT extends well beyond traditional player and community programming. He has played an instrumental role in the creation, development and implementation of several of the organization's most meaningful initiatives, including programs addressing social justice and strengthening relationships between law enforcement and the South Florida community. For this work, he was the co-recipient of the NBA's 2022 "Values of the Game" Award, recognizing individuals who use the power through the sport of basketball to inspire, connect and strengthen communities.

Since joining the HEAT in 2000, Stowe's responsbilites and influence across the organization have continued to evolve and expand. Stowe has led and curated many of the Miami HEAT's signature charitable events, fundraising and community platforms, including the Miami HEAT Family Festival, HEAT Golf Tournament, the HEAT Gala & Concert, Coach Spo's 5K and Coach Spo's Basketball Clinics for athletes with developmental disabilities. Under Stowe's leadership, these events have featured private performances by an extraordinary roster of artists and entertainers, including, Kool & The Gang, Mary J. Blige, Rick Ross, Dermot Kennedy, Earth, Wind & Fire, Vanilla Ice, Toni Braxton, Boyz II Men, D-Nice, En Vogue, The Doo Wop Project, The Temptations and Four Tops, Gladys Knight, Patti LaBelle, comedian Gary Owen, The Commodores and Michael McDonald.

Throughout his time leading the HEAT's philanthropic work and unique team special events, Stowe has helped generate more than $27 million for nonprofit beneficiaries throughout South Florida. Prior to joining the HEAT, Stowe worked in marketing for the NHL's Florida Panthers from 1996-98. Before entering the sports industry, he worked as an Equity Trader, specializing in fundamental analysis of financial markets.

Stowe's influence and service extends beyond the HEAT, with longstanding involvement across the sports industry and South Florida community. He serves on the University of Florida's Department of Sport Management Industry Advisory Board and was selected to be a founding member of the NBA Foundation Team Steering Committee. Stowe is a Board of Director for Voices for Children Foundation, and is an Executive Board of Director for Feeding South Florida and The Miami Center for Racial Justice. He also played a leadership role for Support Surfside, the collaborative effort following the Champlain Towers collapse, working alongside The Miami Foundation and other community partners on a coordinated response that raised more than $5 million to support victims, survivors and their families.

A 1995 graduate of the University of Florida with a Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration, Stowe also earned a master's degree in Sports Management and a master's degree in Business Administration from Barry University. Among his awards are the 2008 Barry University Distinguished Alumni Award, 2024 Ronald McDonald House Charities of South Florida Twelve Good Men Honoree and the 2025 Steve Young Fraternal Order of Police Easterseals Humanitarian Award.

A native and resident of Miami Beach, he and his wife, Johanna, are the parents of Zayden, Zahara and Zia.

UDONIS HASLEM

VICE PRESIDENT, BASKETBALL DEVELOPMENT

After a stellar 20-year NBA playing career spent entirely with the HEAT, Udonis Haslem transitioned into his new role as Vice President, Basketball Development prior to the 2023-24 season. In his current role, Haslem's responsibilities include being a resource to the coaching staff, mentoring both HEAT and Skyforce players and representing the organization in the community and in business endeavors. Haslem will continue to maintain the culture he helped establish while serving as team captain for a franchise-record 16 consecutive seasons from 2007-23.

Haslem, a three-time NBA champion and one of three players in NBA history to play at least 20 seasons all with the same team, was the embodiment of the HEAT organization during his 20-year playing career. He was universally respected for the toughness and passion which he brought every day both on and off the court. Each of his last seven years he was a finalist for the NBA's Twyman-Stokes Teammate of the Year award.

Haslem, who had his jersey number (40) retired by the HEAT on Jan. 19, 2024, is Miami's all-time leader in both total rebounds and offensive rebounds. He is the only undrafted player in NBA history to be a franchise all-time leader in rebounds. Additionally, his 5,791 career rebounds rank fourth in the NBA modern draft era (beginning in 1966-67) for rebounds by undrafted players behind only Hall of Famers Moses Malone (16,212) and Ben Wallace (10,482) and also Brad Miller (6,199). Haslem led the HEAT in both total rebounds and defensive rebounds for five consecutive seasons from 2005-10 and in offensive rebounds and rebound average for four straight seasons from 2006-10. For his career, the Miami native appeared in 879 regular season games (501 starts) and averaged 7.5 points and 6.6 rebounds.

In addition to being Miami's all-time rebound leader, Haslem ranks among the HEAT's all-time leaders in games played (2nd), defensive rebounds (2nd), minutes (2nd), starts (3rd), double-doubles (5th), field goals made (7th), points (10th), field goal percentage (10th), free throws made (10th), and blocks (10th). Haslem is also Miami's all-time postseason leader in offensive rebounds and ranks among the HEAT's postseason leaders in total rebounds (2nd), games (2nd), starts (3rd), defensive rebounds (3rd), minutes (3rd), double-doubles (5th), field goals made (7th), free throws made (7th), points (8th), and blocks (8th). Additionally, his 149 postseason appearances are the most by an undrafted player in NBA history.

In addition to his work for the HEAT, Haslem is an NBA studio analyst for Prime Video, bringing his trademark candor, authenticity, and 20 years of championship experience to the network's pregame, halftime, and postgame coverage. Before signing with Amazon, the HEAT legend built a reputation for his unfiltered basketball breakdowns on ESPN studio shows like First Take and NBA Today, after making his television debut as a postseason panelist for NBA TV and TNT in 2023.

Off the court, he brought the same passion for helping his hometown as he displayed every night on the hardwood. Originally established in 2005 as a children's charity, The Udonis Haslem Foundation has constantly supported local organizations and individuals throughout the Miami area. The foundation's expanded goal is to give hope to children and families in underserved communities by addressing socio-economic and mental health issues, while facilitating direct access to critical services, low-income housing, and opportunities to improve lives.

KEITH ASKINS

SENIOR DIRECTOR OF COLLEGE AND PRO SCOUTING

Keith Askins, who has been a player, coach, scout, and front office executive for the HEAT, begins his 37th year with the organization and his third in the role of Senior Director of College and Pro Scouting. Only Executive V.P., Basketball Operations/GM Andy Elisburg has more years of service on the basketball side of the organization than Askins. For the past 13 seasons he has played an instrumental role overseeing all aspects of Miami's highly respected scouting department. In this capacity, he works closely with V.P., Basketball Operations/Assistant GM Adam Simon, and Chet Kammerer, who currently serves as Senior Advisor of Basketball Operations/Basketball.

Askins transitioned to the front office in 2013, serving three seasons (2013-16) as Miami's Director of College and Pro Scouting. He continuously expanded his role within the department over the next decade, adding Assistant General Manager responsibilities for the HEAT's G League affiliate, the Sioux Falls Skyforce, from 2016-24. Prior to the 2024-25 season, he was promoted to Senior Director of College and Pro Scouting.

After a productive nine-year playing career, one spent entirely with Miami, Askins joined the HEAT coaching staff under Pat Riley as a volunteer assistant halfway through the 1999-00 season. The following season he was promoted to full-time status and served as an Assistant Coach/Advance Scout for the HEAT for two seasons (2000-02) before moving to the bench full-time beginning with the 2002-03 season. During his 14 years on the HEAT coaching staff, Askins worked extensively with the HEAT's forwards and his primary duties included the development of Miami's players both during the season and in the off-season.

Askins still ranks among Miami's all-time leaders in games played (6th), offensive rebounds (15th), total rebounds (18th), steals (19th), blocked shots (20th), three-point field goals made (21st) and attempted (21st), and minutes played (24th). Known for his aggressive play and long-range shooting, Askins served as a captain for the HEAT for four consecutive seasons from 1995-99 and captured the team's Leadership Award in both the 1994-95 and 1995-96 seasons.

A graduate of the University of Alabama, Askins was a participant in the HEAT's TeamUp program, which prompted kids to become involved in community service, and was one of the team's most active community spokespersons during his career. In his free time, he enjoys golf, cigars, dominoes and backcountry fishing. He resides in El Paso, TX with his wife and twin boys.

CHAD KAMMERER

DIRECTOR OF NBA SCOUTING/ ADVANCE SCOUT

Chad Kammerer begins his 26th year with the Miami HEAT organization and his 14th as Director of NBA Scouting/Advance Scout. Among his responsibilities, Kammerer provides scouting reports and player evaluations to assist the HEAT coaching staff in their game preparations.

Prior to being elevated to his current role in September 2013, he had spent five seasons as an assistant coach on Erik Spoelstra's staff from 2008-13, assisting in the areas of game planning, scouting and player development. He has also served as an assistant coach for the HEAT's summer league team for six years.

Kammerer originally joined the organization on a part-time basis during the 2001-02 season and then spent six years as the HEAT's full-time advance scout, from 2002-08 before moving to the bench.

Prior to joining the HEAT, Kammerer served as an assistant coach at Valparaiso University, the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA), Concordia University (CA) and the University of Mississippi.

Kammerer, the son of HEAT Senior Advisor of Basketball Operations/Basketball Chet Kammerer, was born in Indiana and raised in California. He graduated from Westmont College in 1990 and later went on to earn his master's degree at the University of Mississippi in 1993.

He resides in Michigan with his two children, Natasha and Chase.

January 11	The NBA upheld a protest filed by the HEAT after its 117-111 overtime loss to the Atlanta Hawks on December 19, 2007 at Philips Arena, which would result in the replay of the final 51.9 seconds of the game's overtime period with Miami trailing 114-111. The replay was scheduled to take place prior to the next contest between the two teams, at Atlanta on March 8. The HEAT protested the game because, with 51.9 seconds left in overtime, the Hawks' scoring table personnel incorrectly disqualified HEAT center Shaquille O'Neal, asserting a foul committed by O'Neal was his sixth of the game, when in fact it was his fifth. The error occurred because the Hawks' Official Scorer mistakenly attributed to O'Neal a foul with 3:24 remaining in the fourth quarter which was actually called on Udonis Haslem. NBA Commissioner David Stern ruled that the Hawks were grossly negligent in committing this scoring error, since they failed to follow league-mandated scoring procedures and failed to respond effectively when the members of the statisticians' crew noticed the mistake. Under the unprecedented set of circumstances, the Commissioner granted the HEAT's protest, and fined the Hawks $50,000 for their violation of league rules. The protest was the first granted by the NBA since December 14, 1982 when then-NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien upheld a protest by the San Antonio Spurs in a double-overtime loss to the Los Angeles Lakers.

THE PARTNERSHIP

On June 10, 2013, the Miami HEAT announced they had entered into a single affiliation partnership with the NBA G League's Sioux Falls Skyforce and on August 24, 2015 they extended that relationship through the 2016-17 season. The two organizations took the next step in solidifying and strengthening the partnership on June 1, 2017 when the HEAT announced they purchased a controlling interest in their G League affiliate.

Since the teams entered into a hybrid affiliation prior to the 2013-14 season, Sioux Falls has amassed a 333-257 (.564) overall record (regular season and Showcase). The highlight of the partnership came during the 2015-16 season when the Skyforce went on to capture the 2016 NBA G League championship after a record-breaking 40-win regular season. Sioux Falls has captured three division titles and earned five postseason berths during the 13 seasons of the hybrid partnership. Over the span of that partnership, the 333 overall wins recorded by the Skyforce are the third most in the G League and the .564 winning percentage ranks fourth. Additionally, since the single affiliation with the HEAT began prior to the 2013-14 season, the Skyforce has had a total of 50 NBA call-ups including 26 since the beginning of the 2021-22 season.

Sioux Falls joined the NBA G League in 2006 after serving stints with both the International Basketball League (2000-01) and the Continental Basketball Association (1989-00 & 2001-06). The Skyforce captured two CBA Championships (1996 & 2005) and three CBA division titles before joining the NBA G League.

The Skyforce captured the 2016 NBA G League Championship after a record-breaking 40-win regular season.

MARIO CASAMAJOR

HEAD COACH

Mario Casamajor begins his first season as the head coach of the HEAT's G League affiliate, the Sioux Falls Skyforce, and his sixth season as a member of the HEAT organization. In addition to his coaching responsibilities with the Skyforce, he will continue to assist the HEAT coaching staff during the preseason and training camp and at the conclusion of the Skyforce season. Casamajor becomes the 23rd coach in Sioux Falls Skyforce history.

Casamajor has spent the previous three seasons as Head Video Coordinator for the HEAT organization where he was responsible for delivering video analysis and preparation to support coaching strategy, player development and game planning. Casamajor originally joined the HEAT as a Video Room Intern for the 2021-22 season, a role he served for two seasons before being promoted to Head Video Coordinator.

Prior to joining the HEAT, Casamajor gained extensive experience in the basketball industry both domestically and internationally. He spent three seasons as a Basketball Operations Associate for the Minnesota Timberwolves and their G League affiliate, the Iowa Wolves and one season in the same capacity for the Windy City Bulls. From 2017-2021, he served as the Video Coordinator for USA Basketball, first under coaches Jeff Van Gundy and Mike Fratello throughout the FIBA qualifying process and later under Head Coach Gregg Popovich during the United States' gold-medal run at the 2020 Tokyo Olympics.

In 2026, he was named Head Coach of the Nicaragua Men's National Team and Program Director for the Nicaragua Women's National Team. The Illinois native began his coaching career as an assistant coach at his alma mater, St. Patrick High School in Chicago, while also coaching the Mac Irvin Fire AAU program at Nike's EYBL circuit.

A graduate of Eastern Illinois University with a bachelor's degree in Political Science, Casamajor resides with his wife, Sarah, and daughter, Layla.

MIAMI HEAT

MEDIA

HEAT SPORTS MEDIA RELATIONS STAFF

ROB WILSON

SENIOR DIRECTOR OF SPORTS MEDIA RELATIONS

Rob Wilson begins his 28th season with the HEAT and his 13th as Senior Director of Sports Media Relations. He is responsible for the HEAT's day-to-day and game-night media operations and serves as the team's statistical historian. Alongside Vice President of Sports Media Relations Tim Donovan, Wilson coordinates daily player and coach interviews, travels with the team, and serves as a media liaison on the road. Additionally, he has edited the HEAT media guide for each of the past 28 seasons and managed the HEAT postseason guide for seven seasons.

Wilson originally joined the franchise as Assistant Director of Sports Media Relations in August of 1999. He was elevated to Director of Sports Media Relations in September of 2002 before being promoted to his current position in October of 2014.

A 1986 Villanova University graduate, Wilson has spent 44 years in the professional and collegiate athletics field. He began his career as a student manager at Villanova from 1982–86, serving on staff when the Wildcats captured the historic 1985 NCAA Championship. After graduation, he spent the 1987–88 season as a public relations intern for the Big East Conference. He then served as the Sports Information Director at Drexel University from 1988–93 before joining the public relations staff of the Philadelphia Phillies in August of 1993, just two months prior to their World Series appearance. Wilson later spent just over three years at the University of Miami as the Men's Basketball and Baseball SID, while also assisting with the Hurricanes' nationally ranked football team. Prior to joining the HEAT in 1999, he spent two seasons as the Manager of Communications for the Philadelphia 76ers.

A native of Commack, NY, Wilson currently lives in Miami Beach.

MICHAEL LISSACK

DIRECTOR OF SPORTS MEDIA RELATIONS & PLAYER ENGAGEMENT

Michael Lissack begins his 23rd full season with the HEAT, serving as the team's Director of Sports Media Relations & Player Engagement. He originally joined the HEAT as Assistant Director of Sports Media Relations in April of 2004 before being promoted to Director in October of 2014, with the Player Engagement title added in September of 2026. His responsibilities include assisting the department with day-to-day operations, player engagement activities including ticket requests and appearances, as well as designing and editing the team's preseason media guide. He also travels with the team and serves as a media liaison during road games.

Lissack received his bachelor of science degree from Boston University's College of Communications in 1999. Throughout his college years, he held season-long internships in the Boston Celtics media relations department, and summer internships with the Philadelphia 76ers. He also interned with the NHL's Boston Bruins and worked in BU's sports marketing department.

Upon graduation, Lissack spent one season in the Golden State Warriors creative services department before returning to Boston to join the Celtics as Media Relations/Creative Services Coordinator. In that position, he was responsible for the public image of the club, as he was actively involved in writing, editing and creating all team publications and print ads, including the annual media guide and serving as editor of the team's monthly magazine. He was also instrumental in the day-to-day media operations and developing the Shaw's/Reebok Pro Summer League into a premier yearly event. In February of 2003, he was promoted to Manager of Team Relations where he focused on the daily media operations of the team.

A native of Philadelphia, PA, Lissack resides in Miami Beach.

NICK MAIORANA

ASSISTANT DIRECTOR OF SPORTS MEDIA RELATIONS

Nick Maiorana enters his 25th season with the HEAT organization and his 23rd as a member of the Sports Media Relations department. He oversees a wide range of communications and media operations responsibilities, including writing press releases, game notes, credentialing media, managing player interview availabilities, traveling as a media liaison on road trips, serving as an assistant editor of publications, organizing the team's annual Media Day and he continues to maintain the franchise's extensive photo archive he created which contains nearly four decades of historical images. Additionally, he coordinates private tours of the HEAT's basketball operations areas for special corporate partners and VIP guests.

In September 2023, Maiorana was promoted to his current position of Assistant Director of Sports Media Relations after being named Senior Manager in 2019. Prior to that, he was the Sports Media Relations Manager from 2012-19 after serving as an Assistant for eight years. In 2009, he was named the Assistant Media Coordinator for the NCAA Men's Tournament first and second round games held in Miami as he was pivotal in meeting NCAA protocols while coordinating media operations and event staff responsibilities.

The Miami native originally joined the HEAT as an intern in 2002, serving the organization in different capacities before being named Sports Media Relations Assistant in 2004. A graduate of Florida International University, Maiorana resides in Miami with his wife, Evelyn, and their daughters, Julianne and Jocelyn.

MIAMI HEAT SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

The Miami HEAT is committed to making a lasting impact on our community. We are champions of the underdog. Thoughtful and fearless in all we do [both on and off the court]. Our social responsibility pillars are:

EDUCATION

HEAT ACADEMY
presented by Carnival Foundation

Recognizing the need for children to receive extra exposure to academics, particularly in reading, writing, math and science, the Miami HEAT for the 28th year has embraced the importance of providing children with the opportunity to have a free, quality after-school program in South Florida. Through the generous financial support of presenting sponsor, Carnival Foundation, and supporting sponsor, Florida Blue, along with a collaborative partnership with Miami-Dade County Public Schools, the Miami HEAT has teamed up to facilitate HEAT Academy at three local inner-city schools: Paul Laurence Dunbar K-8 Center, Jesse J. McCrary, Jr. Elementary and Riverside Elementary. At HEAT Academy, students work on academics, get assistance with homework, have a safe place to be when their parents are not available, and most importantly, learn from positive role models who inspire kids to excel. HEAT employees frequently visit the classrooms and introduce their own lesson plans to the students. HEAT Academy operates the majority of the school year, Monday – Friday. Since 1999, $5.8 million in funds have benefited students in the HEAT Academy program, with an average annual investment of $228,000.

HEAT BACK-TO-SCHOOL

To help kick off the new school year, the Miami HEAT treat local students in need with a back-to-school shopping spree. Each student is provided with a new tablet computer along with a gift card to shop for much needed items such as school uniforms, notebooks, writing utensils, backpacks, and more. HEAT players and talent accompany the students throughout the store as part of the shopping experience. Through this initiative, The HEAT have donated more than 229,000 school supplies to local schools.

Davion Mitchell and Tre Donaldson led students from Advocacy Network on Disabilities on a back-to-school shopping spree prior to the 2026-27 school year. HEALTH & WELLNESS

HEAT MINDFULNESS CHAMPIONS INITIATIVE
presented by Florida Blue

The importance of mental health, eliminating the stigma surrounding it and providing the education to achieve a more resilient and healthier state of mind has never been a greater need in our society than it is today underscored by the recent pandemic and the affect that will remain with us long term. In an effort to address some of these needs as students and teachers return to school after an extended period of isolation and to further challenge other entities in our community to help join the effort and meet the mental health needs of those living in South Florida and beyond, the Miami HEAT alongside Florida Blue have underwritten the costs of a unique program in collaboration with Miami-Dade County Public Schools - the Miami HEAT Mindfulness Champions Initiative (MCI). Since the inception of the program, MCI has trained a total of 945 teachers in mindfulness and mental health education. The goal is to have one champion at select public high schools throughout the school district each year, so they can in turn educate students and other faculty at their respective schools.

HEAT MINDFULNESS SANCTUARY
presented by Florida Blue

In its ongoing effort to support mental health advocacy, the Miami HEAT, along with Florida Blue, have teamed up to create a HEAT Mindfulness Sanctuary in areas of need across South Florida. These sanctuaries will serve as a safe space where students and adults can mitigate the effects of stress in a calm and welcoming environment. These rooms will be outfitted with amenities and other resources that will mainly contribute to their overall mental wellness. In March 2026, the HEAT established its fourth Mindfulness Sanctuary at Alonzo & Tracy Mourning Senior High School in North Miami.

SUSTAINABILITY

Re-HEAT

In its 19th year of existence, The Re-HEAT program, in partnership with Levy Restaurants and the Kaseya Center, distributes unserved food from all HEAT home games and concerts to homeless shelters in the South Florida area. Beneficiary organizations include the Miami Rescue Mission, Chapman Partnership, Camillus House and Lotus House Women's Shelter. Throughout our 2025-2026 events, we were able to donate approximately 8,390 pounds of unserved food, for an average of 117 pounds of food per game or concert. With the help of supporting partner Levy Cares, we have distributed over 101,527 pounds of food to Re-HEAT beneficiaries to date.

HEAT GREEN SPACE INITIATIVE

HEAT Green Space Initiative is an annual pro-conservation campaign and serves as the annual "Green Initiative" for the HEAT, leveraging the combined weight of the league, teams, players and partners to generate awareness and raise funds in support of environmental protection.

HOW LOW CAN YOU GO CHALLENGE

In collaboration with Broward County Public Schools, the HEAT supports and incentivizes schools to take part in the How Low Can You Go Challenge, which challenges schools and empowers students to lower their carbon footprint by reducing energy, water and food waste. The program was the winner of an Innovation Award in 2023 by the Green Sports Alliance. The 2026-27 season marks the 14th season of the program and over the last 13 years, more than 420 schools from Broward, Miami-Dade and Palm Beach County have participated with anywhere from 60 to 120 schools registering annually. This program is a fun way to learn more about energy, water and food waste conservation while becoming mindful of how the choices we make impact our Earth. The program has also been recognized by the White House, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and National Geographic as an innovative community project to raise awareness of the effects of CO2 emissions on the environment and change behaviors.

Measures of success from the last 13 years:

- Impact over 580,000+ individuals
- Reduced over 26M kWh
- Energy costs savings of $3.1M
- Reduced CO2 emissions by over 49M lbs.
- Reduced water consumption by over 51M gallons

Registration begins on October 6, 2026 for all schools across the tri-county area. The winning school receives on-court recognition at a HEAT game and a school pep rally with Miami HEAT talent. For more information, please visit www.howlowcanyougochallenge.com.

Through unwavering support for organizations driving youth programs, education and health and wellness initiatives, we embrace a culture of continuous evolution. As we move forward, our dynamic approach ensures that we remain at the forefront of positive change, shaping a better future for our community. The Miami HEAT Charitable Fund has raised more than $28 million dollars since its inception.

SOCIETAL JUSTICE

In partnership with the Miami Police Department and Dedication to Community (D2C), the Miami HEAT have facilitated the specialized training of all of Miami's sworn police patrol officers with the goals of positively impacting interactions between law enforcement and our diverse, local community—particularly the Black community. In September of 2020, the partnership began with a pilot program, training a subset of Miami PD officers. In November 2023, we reached our longer-term goal of providing training to all the sworn patrol officers as well as the civilian professional staff of the Miami PD. A similar pilot program, with 250 Miami-Dade Police Department officers took place in the Fall of 2022 and will continue through the 2026-27 season with Florida Blue and the Miami-Dade Sheriff's Office. The partnership with D2C has grown to also include the Broward County Sheriff's Office and the Fort Lauderdale PD with additional agencies lining up to participate in this groundbreaking, one-of-kind opportunity to take ACTION in building a stronger, safer, more unified South Florida.

A key component of the course emphasizes community interaction. To that end, in true Bonded by Ball fashion, Wilson, the official basketball of the NBA, has donated 1,000 basketballs to the HEAT, who will use the donation to equip each of the 900 officers of the force with a basketball to be carried in their vehicles and to be used for random pick-up games with South Florida youth.

Also, HEAT partner, Florida Blue, share our vision and commitment to enhancing the interactions between local law enforcement and the South Florida community they serve and will co-present this initiative.

Values of the Game Award

On April 25, 2022, Michael McCullough, Executive Vice President/Chief Marketing Officer and Steve Stowe, Vice President/Executive Director of the Miami HEAT Charitable Fund received the NBA's "Values of the Game" Award, which recognizes an individual or individuals who inspire and connect people everywhere, but specifically in their community, through the power of basketball.

McCullough and Stowe won for their combined efforts in launching a first-of-its-kind partnership with the City of Miami Police Department and Dedication to Community (D2C) through a unique community policing program designed to help bridge the gap between Black and Brown city residents and local law enforcement.

MIAMI HEAT HOME COURT FOR KIDS WING AT HOLTZ CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL

Holtz Children's Hospital at Jackson Memorial continues to provide state-of-the-art assistance to children in their pediatric intensive care unit made possible from the joint donation of Carnival Cruise Line and the Miami HEAT Charitable Fund. The redesigned facility currently lets parents play a more active role in their child's treatment and recovery. This ongoing partnership allows for more critically ill children to be treated in South Florida through cutting-edge medical care.

HOME STRONG

Established in 2006, Home Strong is an ongoing program that salutes and honors the courageous men and women in uniform for their dedication to the United States Armed Forces. Home Strong's mission is to give aid, support and recognition to any person who has been in harm's way in the military service. Pat Riley and the Miami HEAT created this initiative as a means of paying tribute to our soldiers and veterans. Currently, the program is working in partnership with Ultimate Software to provide further assistance with the unmet needs of military personnel and their families who have returned from Iraq and Afghanistan and reside in the South Florida area.

Beneficiaries include:

- HEAT Home Strong Recognition Program: Hosts, honors and supports military personnel and their families who have served in combat and reside in the South Florida area.
- Fisher House Foundation: Builds and maintains a "home away from home" at no charge for military families of patients
